The following sections provide details of the different Recordings lists provided:

- All Recorded
  This list contains all recorded programs. If the user chooses a program from this list, a Manage Recording window (shown in Figure 1-9) will appear where the user can assign the recording to a folder, protect the recording, and delete the recording.

- One-Time Recorded
  This list contains all recordings that were set as a one-time recording. If the user chooses a program from this list, a Manage Recording window will appear where the user can assign the recording to a folder, protect the recording, and delete the recording.

- All Future
  This list is all future recordings that are currently scheduled. This list includes one-time recordings and series recordings.

- One-Time Future
  This list shows all future one-time recordings. If the user chooses a program from this list, a Manage Recording window will appear where the user can assign the recording to a folder, protect the recording, and delete the recording.

- Series
  This list shows all future series recordings. If the user chooses a program from this list, a Manage Series Recording window (shown in Figure 1-9) will appear where the user can change the following series recording details: STB, start time, stop time, folder, number of episodes to keep, auto tune, and record new only. The user can also delete the series rule or just delete the episode.
